Omron Disclaimer

Dear Customer,

From time to time, an engineer(s) of Omron Electronics ("Omron") may, on your request, provide hardware/configuration or software assistance (the "Assistance") for Omron industrial automation products

You declare that you understand:

1. That Omron does not provide application software as a finished and fully-tested product nor is this Omron's intention.
2. The functional design, safety and testing of any hardware/configuration or software is the responsibility of the Customer.
3. Omron may provide the Assistance as a courtesy only and you should carefully evaluate your requirements.
4. Omron may provide the Assistance by remote access only if in permanent contact via the telephone with a competent person who is on-site with the machine. Contact must be maintained for the duration of the session. Online edits must be agreed by both parties before being implemented.

You agree that:

1. Omron and its affiliates (and any of their respective directors, officers, agents, contractors and employees) will not in any case be liable for any damages, losses or causes or action of any nature whatsoever arising from any programming assistance provided.
2. You will hold Omron and its affiliates (and any of their respective directors, officers, agents, contractors and employees) harmless for any all third party claims, proceedings, actions, fines, losses, costs and damages (including all reasonable professional costs and expenses) suffered or incurred by Omron arising out of or in relation to the programming assistance required.

This disclaimer applies to all current and future Assistance provided by Omron unless otherwise agreed between parties in writing.
